

MR. and MRS. GLENN E. JOHNSON JR.

Dansville Couple Say Vows in Methodist Church

Marriage vows and rings were exchanged Saturday (July 25, 1987) by Sandra E. Knights and Glenn E. Johnson Jr., both of Dansville, at the United Methodist Church in Dansville.

The bride is a daughter of Gary L. Knights of 5 Wilmet St., Dansville. The bridegroom is a son of Glenn Johnson of 103 Ossian St., Dansville, and Mrs. Marjorie MacDonald of Morse Street, Dansville.

Arrangements of white gladioli, mums and carnations accented with rose-pink bows decorated the church.

The Rev. G. Calvin Sheasley performed a double-ring ceremony. Val Gardner of Genesee was the vocalist and Mrs. Sheasley was the organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her summer satin gown was styled with a Venise lace mandarin collar and tapered long sleeves. Lace appliques embroidered with pearls adorned the bodice, and lace circled the full skirt and cathedral train. She wore a wreath of silk flowers with a fingertip illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white silk roses and mauve and rose-pink carnations with accents of seed pearls.

Patty Knights of Dansville was the maid of honor for her sister. The bridesmaids were Monique Johnson and Mary Kay Sennet of Dansville, sisters of the bridegroom, and Mary Ann Johnson of Mount Morris, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

Richard Carey of Dansville was the best man. The ushers were Michael Johnson of Mount Morris, brother of the bridegroom, and Brian Teachout and Scott Mehlenbacher of Dansville.

Jennifer Popple of Dansville was the flower girl.

The maid of honor and flower girl were attired in Daphne rose satin gowns fashioned with schiffli embroidery bodices, puffed sleeves with shoulder ruffles, satin sashes and gathered skirts. Their hairpieces were rose-colored silk flowers and babies'-breath.

The bridesmaids' suede rose satin gowns and hairpieces were similarly styled.

The attendants carried nosegays of mauve, rose-pink and raspberry carnations accented with satin streamers. The flower girl carried a basket of rose-pink carnations and babies'-breath.

A dinner reception at the Moose Club in Dansville was attended by about 250 guests.

The bride, a 1984 graduate of Dansville Central School, is a senior typist for Livingston County Real Property Tax Services.

Her husband is a 1981 graduate of Dansville Central School and is employed as a recreational vehicle mechanic for Meyer's Campers in Caledonia.

The Johnsons reside in Leicester.

Wedding guests included those from Pennsylvania, Victor and Arkport.

The American household has changed considerably over the years and these changes are producing new product forms. The laundry detergent category is no exception.

Studies show that the female head of the household remains the chief purchaser of laundry products. But laundry is sometimes done by someone other than the female head in more than a third of U.S. households.

In addition, the level to two working people in a household is over 50%. And single persons make up more than one quarter of U.S. households.

New product forms in laundry detergents are appearing to meet the needs of these changing households. Efficiency and convenience become tantamount.

Some of the products are currently in test markets. One new form is the unit dose product. A detergent gel or paste is in a dissolving pouch. The pouch is dropped in the washer, the film dissolves and the contents do the work. Then there is a double pouch configuration for normal loads. The pouches can be separated to adjust for heavily soiled or extra large loads with three pouches, or a single pouch for a small or light load.

Another product takes the form of a sheet that starts in the wash cycle, goes through the rinse and is transferred to the dryer with the laundry load. The sheet has six compartments. The four middle sections contain detergent and the two end compartments, a peroxygen whitener. On the opposite side of the sheet, little dots of fabric softener are printed. These melt and disperse in the dryer for softening and static control. Like the dissolving pouches, the sheet is perforated to accommodate extra heavy or large loads with a sheet and a half, and half a sheet for small or light loads.

These forms are some responses by industry to the changing consumer.
